Funeral for Canyon Pioneer Wednesday

International Vice President on Schedule as Main Speaker of Day

Lions Club officers and members from cities all over the Panhandle are expected here Saturday night and Sunday for the first annual midwinter conference of Lions District 2-T-1.

Edward G. Barry, of Little Rock, Ark., second vice president of Lions International, will be the featured speaker at a luncheon Sunday. The luncheon, to be held in the elementary school cafeteria, will be the regular meeting of the Canyon Lions Club.

The visiting Lions will attend the West Texas State basketball game Saturday night. The conference proper will begin Sunday morning with registration.

The governor's cabinet meeting will be held beginning at 8:30 a. m. in the Blue Room of the cafeteria. At the same time, in the ex-student office, there will be a meeting of the International councillors.

The meetings will adjourn for a coffee session at 10:30 a. m. in the Blue Room.

A devotional will be held beginning at 11 a. m. in the Joseph A. Hill Chapel by W. I. Hughes of Childress.

Clark Jarnagin, president of the Lions Club here, will be master of ceremonies at the luncheon, which begins at 12:15. Group singing will be led by John Petry and Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will offer the invocation.

Zone Chairman Joe Gibson will welcome the visiting Lions, and District Governor W. T. Nelson of Childress will give the response.

West Texas State's Hi Fi Quartet will provide music. Nelson will introduce distinguished guests and International Director Dr. Richard A. Self will introduce Barry.

Nelson will make various presentations to representatives of area clubs.

In a business session, planned to take the entire afternoon, candidates for officers will be presented at 2:45 p. m.

At 3 p. m. the district committee for Crippled Children's Camp will report, followed by a talk by Dr. Self at 3:15 p. m.

Governor Roy Mearns, of the Midland district, will talk on "Camper Intake" at 3:30 p. m.; and Deputy District Governor Billy Hunter of Amarillo will tell how to indoctrinate new members beginning at 3:40 p. m.

Deputy District Governor Bill Smith will tell how to promote good attendance at 3:50 p. m. At 4 p. m. Zone Chairman Mel Kruse will tell the purpose of zone meetings.

Byron Ellis, general chairman of the district convention, will report on convention progress beginning at 4:10 p. m. The district convention will be May 17 in Amarillo with International President Humberto Valenzuela G. attending.

Governor Nelson will address the conference beginning at 4:30 p. m.

Along with the sessions for members, an entertainment program for women has been planned. Before the morning session, the women will be taken on a tour of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum by Boone McClure.

The women will join the members at 10 a. m. and they will be together until after the luncheon.

46TH ANNIVERSARY 1956
BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The nation's 4,100,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult leaders will launch their four-year program, "Onward for God and My Country," during Boy Scout Week.

The week, beginning Monday and ending Feb. 12, marks the organization's 46th anniversary.

Boy Scout Sunday will be Feb. 12.

The first man to be married in Canyon died Monday at the home of his daughter in Hereford.

Funeral services for John Gober Knight were to be conducted at 10 a. m. today in Blackburn-Shaw Memorial Chapel in Amarillo by the Rev. John R. Sharp.

Burial was to be in Dreamland Cemetery, the first 10 acres for which were donated by Mr. Knight. Mr. Knight, 89, died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Pat Wederbrook.

He came to Canyon Oct. 2, 1890, and was married March 1, 1891, to the former Margaret Roberts. The ceremony was read by B. F. Jackson of Amarillo in the first Randall County courthouse.

Mrs. Knight died here in 1936. Born April 17, 1866, near Tyler in Smith County, Mr. Knight took over a blacksmith shop when he came to Canyon. He operated the business until 1906, and fondly recalled having handled all sorts of repair work including furniture and jewelry.

He made bridge bits and spurs, did repair work for railroad subcontractors, shod horses and mules for ranches and the stage coach lines, fashioned branding irons and furnished foot rails for the saloons then in Canyon.

Mr. Knight acquired 3 1/2 sections in the vicinity of Canyon, and had some 200 head of cattle in addition to property in town. His first acreage was broken with a yoke of oxen by T. D. Coffey in 1893.

Mr. Knight remembered the grasshopper plague in 1893 that ruined his first crop of millet. "I have never seen such a plague of hoppers," he said in 1939 for the 50th anniversary edition of The Canyon News.

"The earth seemed to be moving northeast. A rain and hail destroyed them. There was no poison, and like the Indian fight, we lost no lives."

He said the grasshoppers got into the house and ate holes in window curtains.

When he sold his blacksmith shop, Mr. Knight moved to his farm and began raising stock and row crops. His first crops were sorghum, millet, pumpkins and watermelons. He recalled that local farmers used never to ship crops, but sold them in the local market.

"Neighbors used to inquire about each others cows first thing," he said. "Their families were a secondary matter."

When Mr. and Mrs. Knight were married, Mrs. Knight was one of three single women in the county. Mr. Knight later recalled that the county's first funeral was held on the same day as his marriage.

Mr. Knight served on the school board for several terms. When he was first on the board, there were three members. During his last term, there were seven members.

He recalled that children did not have sidewalks or roads to follow on their way to school, and remembered that W. C. Baird and Mr. Wesley plowed furrows from their homes to school for their children to follow.

Mr. Knight's impressive list of "firsts" including pulling the press for printing the first newspaper, The Canyon City Echo, in 1890. John W. Edgell was owner and publisher of the paper.

Mr. Knight was foreman of the grand jury which forced the county commissioners to call an election that passed the law requiring every owner to confine cattle to his own premises.

He served as road overseer, road viewer and was chairman of the Randall County Parole Board until he resigned in 1953.

Mr. Knight helped to secure the college for Canyon, and considered that his greatest contribution to the area.

A member of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. Knight told how hard it was for him to become a member. "In those early days, it was kinda hard for me to break into the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. I applied the second time, so when they took me in, at once three withdrew because the session let me in. While lots of us young fellows at that time needed church influence as old ones do now, you know time makes lots of good old men," he said.

Mr. Knight became an elder and treasurer of the church and was serving in those capacities when the first building was erected.

In addition to his daughter in Hereford, Mr. Knight was survived by two other daughters, Mrs. W. B. Hicks, Wichita Falls, and Mrs. A. H. Wood, Denton; one brother, Thomas Knight, Dallas; 10 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Water Wasn't Wasted

The water that drained from the water tower down Third, across to Fourth and to the highway Sunday wasn't exactly wasted. The water tower had been sandblasted and repainted inside during the past two weeks by the American Bridge and Iron Company. Heavily-chlorinated water was pumped into the tower to kill any germs which might be in it, and the water was drained out Sunday morning. The tower was refilled with regular city water Sunday afternoon and returned to service.

For Governor, If At All - - Judge

Ralph Yarborough, who said he is not running for an office and is not in the Panhandle on a political tour, said Monday morning in Canyon that he would be a candidate for governor if he runs for any office.

At a social-type, informal meeting in the American Legion Hall, the 1952 gubernatorial candidate made a short speech praising Canyon's position as an educational center and lauded the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

During the speech he told how the present state administration had stopped an appropriation for the museum, then said that was the only political note he would interject.

But by the time he had finished, Judge Yarborough called for a raise in the pay of state legislators and for state aid to counties and cities for purchasing highway right of way.

"We need a legislature with a living wage," he said. The low

Poll Tax Issue Apparently Low

Late Tuesday afternoon, Tax Assessor Collector Bill Money estimated that nearly 4,200 poll tax receipts had been issued this year, not counting those which had been issued in South Amarillo during the day.

Midnight Tuesday was the last time for obtaining a poll tax receipt, which entitles citizens to vote during the coming year.

The number of receipts issued in the county will be totaled this week.

In 1954, the last general election year, 4,934 receipts were issued. In 1952, the last presidential election year, 5,790 receipts were issued.

pay of the state lawmakers is "one of the basic faults of our system."

The judge told a reporter that he would be a candidate for governor if he decides to run for office. He said he would stick with that plan regardless of what Sen. Price Daniel decides to do.

Sen. Daniel recently all but announced his intention to run for governor in a speech before the Texas Press Association. Daniel said he would follow the will of the people in making his decision and would announce what he plans to do sometime in February.

In his plea for state aid for purchasing right of way, Yarborough said that other states aid as much as $7 per citizen per year, while Texas aids only 25 cents a person per year.

"You in Randall and Potter Counties are in a fortunate financial position, but in many counties, based on solely agrarian economy, it's breaking them," he said of buying right of way.

Yarborough said his trip to the Panhandle is not a tour to find out political sentiment. He said he is here to appear before the Swisher County Farmers Union banquet in Tulia, a "speaking date I made many weeks ago."

He said he has made several trips lately to Dallas, Waco, Houston and other downstate cities to test the political thinking of those places.

During his speech in Canyon, Yarborough said he was given a signed portrait of President Eisenhower.

Census Shows 1,320 Students

School tax Collector Lee Foster said Tuesday afternoon that 1,320 school-age children had been counted in the Canyon Independent School District this year.

He said the census must reflect the number of school-aged children living in the district on Feb. 1, and his office usually gains a few in the census by checking to discover those families which might have moved into the district in the latest few days of January.

Any parent who has school-aged children who have not been counted is asked to call the tax office. Those to be counted in the census are those who will be six years old by Sept. 1, and those under 18.

The census is used by the state to figure payments to the school district. The state pays $72 for each student in the district at the time of the census.

Canyon Joins New Conference

Canyon has entered with five neighboring cities to form the Golden Spread Athletic Conference for seventh and eighth grade football. Coach Guy Harrison announced this week.

A meeting will be held by the group later this spring to try to enlarge the conference to include basketball, he said.

The conference includes Olton, Dimmitt, Hereford, Canyon, Muleshoe and Tulia. Wayne Mantooth of Muleshoe is chairman of the conference.

Games will be played on a double-header basis. Both the seventh and the eighth grades will field teams on the same day.

Conference rules provide that those who play on the seventh grade team must be less than 14 on Sept. 1 and those who play on the eighth grade teams must be less than 15 on the same date.

A seventh grader who is over 14 may play on an eighth grade team, but an eighth grader may not play on a seventh grade team, regardless of age.

Tie games will be counted as one-half game lost and one-half game won. If two teams are tied in games won and lost at the end of the season, co-champions will be declared.

A complete schedule will be worked out among the teams and will be announced later, Harrison said.

Ed Phillips Dies At Billings, Mont.

Ed Phillips of Billings, Mont., and formerly of Canyon died Jan. 3. Funeral services were in Montana. Mr. Phillips was the brother-in-law of Mrs. Carl Laughery. He is survived by his wife and daughter and several grandchildren.

Mrs. A. B. Haynes Jr. and daughter, Elizabeth, left Saturday for Waco where they will establish residence. A. B. Haynes has been in Waco for several months working with the Soil Conservation Service.

Judge Appoints RW Commission

County Judge Roy Joe Stevens appointed three special commissioners Monday to hear the condemnation proceedings instituted by the county against Taylor and Sons Country Store.

Appointed were Walter Graham, Newton Crain and B. R. Jones, Amarillo real estate dealer and builder.

No date for a hearing has been set yet, Judge Stevens said. Graham is out of town, and the special commissioners set the time and place of hearing.

When the three have returned a finding of the value of the condemned property, the county will be free to turn the land over to the state highway department for construction of the traffic interchange for the expressway.

If neither the county nor Taylor and Sons accepts the price found by the special commissioners, that amount of money is placed in escrow while the case is appealed to higher courts. Any subsequent court action will not delay construction of the highway.

The proceedings against Taylor and Sons were started in December. The county's right of way agents, Lanham Nelson and A. C. Youngblood, met with representatives of Taylor and Sons in January, but they failed to reach an agreement.

Put Your Paper Out Saturday Morning

This coming Saturday is the day to get rid of those magazines and newspapers you've been saving for the Cub Scouts.

Sometime Saturday morning tie the paper into bundles and throw them into the front yard. The Cubs will be along during the day to pick them up.

The money collected by the two trap paper drives put on by Cub pack 31 will be used this month to defray expenses of the annual Blue and Gold banquet in observance of Boy Scout Week.

No Rush-No Crowd

This is a picture of the line of citizens wanting to pay poll taxes which did not form. The total number of poll tax receipts issued this year was lower than for the past two general election years.

The last issue of The Lion, international magazine of the Lions Clubs, tells all about how to keep from going bald. I appreciate the article, but I do wish it had gone further and told me what to do about that which has passed away.

For the benefit of those who need the information but don't have access to the magazine, Dr. M. Wharton Young of Howard University reports that baldness is caused by tension on top. Tension zones on top of the head sharply reduce the blood supply so that affected hairs fall out. The only part of a hair that is alive is a tiny section of tissue at the roots. The rest is dead.

As an aid to keep your hair, the magazine suggests thorough brushing. The bristles should not touch the scalp, but should sort of tug the hair to provide circulation.

That sort of tugging won't work with me, however. Mine's already too thin for such gentle measures. Anyway, the article says to brush the hair for 10 minutes a day. Don't worry about dandruff, it says.

Shampoo regularly, say once a week, and use a comb with rounded teeth so as not to damage the scalp.

And the best advice, "Take care of it while you've got it—and forget about it when it's gone."

Hairy statistics:

One square inch of the average scalp holds close to 1,000 hairs, and the average head has about 100,000 hairs.

If you are blond, you have more hairs per square inch than those with other colors. If you are a redhead, you have fewer hairs than anyone else.

Dallas recently did away with the remains of its street car system, replacing it with buses. Lauding the act, The Houston Chronicle made pleased remarks then pointed out that Houston "modernized" several years ago.

One of my fondest memories of Houston is the street-car ride from downtown to where my uncle lived.

There was the bustle of downtown traffic with cars driving on both sides of the track. The motorman stopped at every corner and jangled his footbell in between—a noise well calculated to tickle the heart of any small boy.

The line to my uncle's ran across a bayou and there was a long, sweeping curve on the bridge approach. How that streetcar used to lean as it rounded the curve at what seemed to me to be a breakneck speed. I could lean with the curve, or try, in little boy fashion, to lean against the curve.

But Houston's modern now, and my uncle doesn't live there anymore.

Standing on a street corner one Saturday, a farmer bragged that he owned the laziest rooster in the world. As proof, he offered, "He never crows at sunrise. He waits until the other roosters crow and then nods his head."

Texas Public Schools Week will be observed from March 5 to 10. The Canyon school system is planning big doings for the week, and hopes to present to the patrons of the system an idea of what is going on. Supt. Joe Gibson will extend an invitation to visit the schools during that week, and invariably adds, "We'd like you to visit anytime."

It's odd how a work can be changed by association. Consider the word "unmentionable."

It has changed, hasn't it? If you hear a woman say she's been shopping and bought some "unmentionables," you know exactly what she means. A man who says he snagged himself on barbed wire in an unmentionable place, you know what he means, too.

One of these fine days, the word "unmentionable" will become unmentionable and we'll have to find another euphemism.

Shortly after Prof. Walter Raleigh, distinguished British scholar who is a descendant of the famous Sir Walter Raleigh, was knighted, he was invited to lecture at Princeton.

The man who volunteered to meet the lecturer's train had no idea what Prof. Raleigh looked like.

When the passengers unloaded, the greeter caught sight of a distinguished-looking man wearing a bowler hat, wing collar and dark suit and carrying an umbrella. He decided that this must be his scholarly English guest.

Rushing to the man, he puffed, "I beg your pardon, but would you be Sir Walter Raleigh?"

The distinguished-looking gentleman measured the greeter with a cold look, then said drily, "No, I happen to be Christopher Columbus. Sir Walter Raleigh has just gone off with Queen Elizabeth to look for a puddle."

Directors of the State Bar of Texas urged reprimands or disbarment for lawyer-legislators found guilty of professional misconduct. They formally requested local grievance committees "to investigate all instances of alleged misconduct" on the part of attorneys who are also members of legislative bodies.

The president, Maurice R. Bullock of Fort Stockton, said that if any lawyer-legislator is found guilty of misconduct, the bar should issue a private or public reprimand or institute disbarment proceedings.

Let's all keep our ears and eyes open and see if any local grievance committees take any public action. If any do, they will be acting in a manner contrary to that which most lawyers take.

Seldom do attorneys seek publicity except when they want some propaganda spread around. Lots of times, lawyers with a sticky case will seek out newspapermen and make statements in an effort to get the case tried in the newspapers and not in the court. And, lots of times, we newspapers go right along with them.

Most lawyers I know can talk for quite some time and never get anything said. Maybe that's why I like the guys. It's so much fun trying to figure out what they are saying.

The district Lions conference here next weekend is going to be a nice thing for Canyon. Two international directors will be here, one from Dallas and one from Salt Lake City.

While the men are in business sessions, a program of entertainment will be going on for the ladies who are with the Lions. There should be an extra 400 or 500 people in Canyon Sunday. I hope they are impressed with our city.—BC

BOYCE HOUSE

You are rich.
You may not have a lot of money or cattle roaming on a hundred hills or gushers spouting their black gold but if you have a job and good health and a clear conscience that lets you sleep at night, you are rich.

A few years ago, I drove into a Texas town with a friend. He said, "I have a good friend living here; let's go by and see him." It was at night so we went to his home. He was a banker and rancher and he lived in a mansion, the finest in the town. He was handsome and cordial. I was introduced to his lovely wife and his children. We three men went to a steak house and enjoyed a fine meal and the banker proved to be that rare combination, a good talker and a good listener.

Not long after that, I was shocked to read in the paper that he had been arrested on a charge of bank fraud.

It seemed that the shortage ran into many thousands of dollars. In order to cover up bad loans, he had kept two sets of records on several large depositors, one set enabling him to balance the books, the other set enabling him to send the depositors affected a statement showing that their account, was the amount they should have, so they would suspect nothing was wrong.

According to the authorities, he would substitute the misleading statements at night. Long after the bank was closed, he slipped in through a side window and left the same way. This juggling of records went on for years and the total involved grew larger and larger. The man is bound to have known that some day he would be found out. The only question was, When? Realizing that discovery would come at any moment, he faced the world with smiles, handshakes, pleasant words. And at home he had to play that same part with his family. Only when he was alone, could he drop the mask.

When the blow struck at last, he turned over his property; his name was clouded; friends were shocked.

So I repeat, if you have a clear conscience and can sleep at night, you are rich.

THE CANYON NEWS

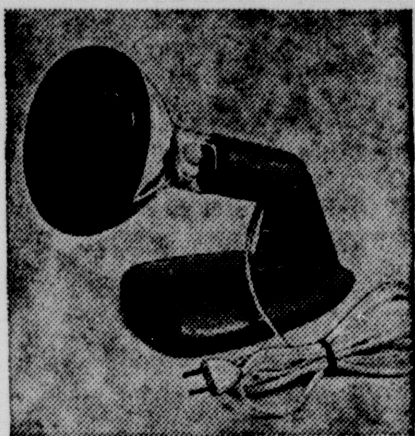

"A piece of sun in a bottle" is what someone once called the heat lamp now being used on many farms to give quick permanent or portable supplementary heat. The modern heat lamp is a most versatile piece of equipment. No larger than a good-sized light bulb, it can be screwed in an ordinary bridge lamp socket, mounted permanently on walls or ceilings, or used in a regular portable fixture designed for the purpose.

Within the farm home one of the recent uses is in the bathrooms or in washrooms located outside the main portion of the house. It is excellent for providing quick, concentrated heat directly upon cold hands while they are being washed in a wash basin. In a bath it gives supplementary heat in areas where the regular method of house heating falls short. Such places might be over the bathtub, over the lavatory, or mounted in ceiling near a north wall. The heat lamp produces an instant but gentle heat and, in addition, gives light as well.

Portable units can be used for drying stockings, helping dry newly painted areas, thawing frozen pipes, heating cold engines, protecting plants from frost, and keeping hands warm while working over a cold work bench.

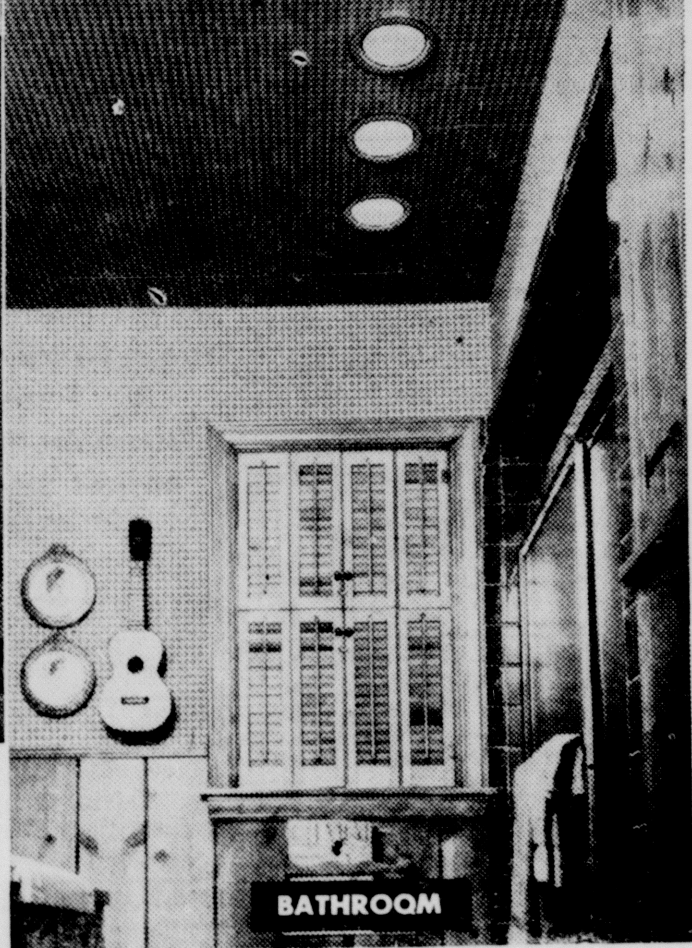

Because it is low in cost and gives light as well as heat, the most popular heat lamp is the 250 watt R40/1. This lamp contains a built-in reflector that directs the light and heat onto the working surface. The R40/1 costs about one-third less than the 250 watt R40/10 lamp which contains a heat-resistant, hard glass lens.

The 250 watt R40/10 heat lamp with a hard glass lens and portable lamp holder. This unit is made to hang on the wall or sit on a table.

The 250 watt R40/10 is adapted to many applications where a soothing, penetrating heat but no light is needed. It resists vibrations, hard knocks and water breakage. The filtered light of this lamp reduces brightness and gives the user a feeling of restfulness. The R40/10 also gives off a soothing restful heat for tired aching muscles.

Heat lamps are easy to install, need no thermostats since one can instantly see when they are lit; and they provide quick, concentrated comfortable heat wherever used.

Heat lamps mounted in a portable unit or mounted permanently give adequate light and consoling heat to many areas around your farm. In the bathroom they give instant comforting warmth when you step out of the shower or tub.

Extension Agent Advises Now Is Best Time to Prepare Brooders

COLLEGE STATION—Texas poultrymen will start 8 to 10 per cent of the 1956 replacement of chicks during this month, and careful attention should be given to the cleaning and repairing of the brooder house in preparation for growing the chicks, says Ben Wormeli, Extension Poultry Husbandman of Texas A. and M. College.

The brooder houses should be cleaned and put into good repair by making sure that all windows, doors and ventilator sections are well fitted and working smoothly. The roof should be checked for leaks.

Thermostat apparatus on brooder stoves should be carefully checked and stoves cleaned to assure a dependable source of heat when it is needed, says Wormeli.

Adequate feeder and watering space is recognized by poultrymen as important to uniform growth of all birds. Up to three weeks of age, birds should be provided with one inch of feeder space per bird.

It should be increased to two inches, from three to four weeks of age, and during six to seven weeks, it should be increased to three inches per bird.

These needs can be met by one four foot trough for each 100 chicks at the start. At six to seven weeks of age they will need three troughs four feet long by four inches deep per 100 birds.

Wormeli recommends five one gallon waterers by each brooder having a capacity of 500 chicks. From two to three weeks of age, two waterers with a three gallon capacity should be provided for each 100 birds.

If a water system is available, a four foot automatic water trough should be provided for each 250 chicks.

Where chicks have access to range, Wormeli recommends one square foot of floor space for every two birds. Since green feed is often not available on the range, there is a trend toward growing pullet replacement chicks in confinement, he adds. Under these conditions each bird should be provided with one square foot of floor space, until they are eight or nine weeks of age.

On this basis a 30 foot by 40 foot house would be required to raise replacements for a thousand hen laying flock. Wormeli adds that it will probably be to the poultryman's advantage to double this space, 30 by 80 feet, and keep the pullets confined to the house until maturity.

One sound method that is now being employed by some poultrymen is to leave the chicks in one house for the six months growing period and for the first year of egg production.

Making sure the brooder house and equipment is adequate and in good repair will pay good dividends in the production of a high percentage of good quality uniform pullets for next year's laying flock, says Wormeli.

NEWS LETTER FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Are The People Leaving the Farm?
The Department of Commerce has recently released the 1954 census of agriculture. Significant changes in the agricultural picture are obvious.

In the United States from 1950 to 1954 the number of farms decreased by 600,000. There was a decrease in every state except Florida. This was a decline of 11.1 per cent in the number of farms.

This census reflects that there are fewer farms in 1954 than for any census since 1890. The largest portion of this decrease was in the family-sized farms of from 10 to 100 acres.

Farmers in that category declined 449,000 or 17.8 per cent between 1950 and 1954. In 1925 there were 63,328 farms of 1,000 acres and over in the United States.

By 1954 this number had increased to 130,463. Farms consisting of 500 acres or more have increased 55 per cent during the last 30 years.

It might also be pointed out that there has been an increase in the number of farms of less than 10 acres resulting largely from the purchase and use of small acreage plots by city dwellers near metropolitan areas. The total area of all farms in 1954 was almost the same as in 1950 and comprised over three-fifths of the total land area of this nation.

These figures simply mean that human beings left the land and moved to the cities.

Although land in farms from which crops were harvested decreased 12 million acres below the 1949 total, the irrigated acreage of farm land increased almost three and three-fourths million acres during the same period.

The total acreage of irrigated land is now over 29 million acres out of approximately 333 million acres of farm land from which crops are harvested.

The figures seem to indicate that many of the people leaving the farm were tenants, either cash or share.

In Texas the decrease in family-size farms between 10 acres and 260 acres was approximately 43,000.

The decrease in farm tenants in Texas was about 23,000. The decrease in farmers who owned their own farms was about 15,000.

The census shows among other things that there are 111,000 farms in Texas having telephones, 269,000 with electricity, 80,000 with television sets, 199,000 with running water, 93,000 with home freezers.

and 117,000 with artificial ponds, reservoirs and earth tanks.

These figures indicate that even though life on the farm now includes many of the modern day conveniences, the people are leaving the farm in great numbers. This leads to the conclusion that this migration must be caused by the instability of the agricultural economy and the spasmodic declines in farm income.

I do not like to see people moving from the land. History records that this has always spelled tragedy for nations.

Our job in this generation is to stabilize the farm economy and put it on an even keel with the other segments of our economy so that our people will have an incentive to remain close to the land.

The Bricker Amendment
Some testimony before a Congressional committee just the other day made it very clear that the Administration is still against the Bricker Amendment and, in fact, considers any attempt to limit the powers of the President to enter into other agreements with other countries to be unconstitutional.

The testimony was before a subcommittee of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. A representative of the State Department testified in effect that a provision in a proposed law stipulating that certain agreements between this country and another country could only be made by a treaty, would be an infringement on the President's Constitutional powers and, therefore, unconstitutional.

The alarm about these situations grows out of the fact that if the agreement can be made only by treaty, there will be no agreement unless the Senate ratifies the treaty.

Without the treaty provision, the agreement could be made between the President of this country and the proper authorities of another country and would be binding upon our people in almost the same effect as one of our laws.

Another Incident in Kiev

As I pointed out in a previous newsletter, the Russians are very proud of having mastered the art of making ice cream. This pride is in full evidence from the Finnish border to the Black Sea.

The manager of the hotel in Kiev was a young man about 30. He was most solicitous of our welfare and most anxious to please us.

At lunch the first day in Kiev we ordered ice cream for dessert which pleased him very much. However, he undertook to explain something in a mixture of Russian and English.

It sounded like he was saying "mit gem" or "mitout gem." We finally decided that he was trying to say "jam" and was referring to some kind of sauce or topping for the ice cream.

After much badgering back and forth one of our group, an affable fellow from Minnesota, said to him in a most conciliatory tone, "Bring some with jam and some without jam, we like it both ways."

The manager then left the room in a hurry and came back with two interpreters. We explained the situation to the interpreter in English and the manager explained it in Russian. The interpreters laughed heartily.

They explained that what the manager was trying to do was to make us understand that he didn't have any ice cream "with jam" or "without jam." We found out the next day that the manager was very much disturbed and hurt because he thought we were laughing at him and that it might get him into serious trouble.

We immediately got in touch with him and some officials and explained in detail that we were laughing at each other and not at the manager. This seemed to settle a situation that was a perfect example of "much ado about nothing."

To Odessa

We left Kiev by air late in the afternoon and flew to Odessa, a city of about 1 1/2 million people located on the Black Sea. We arrived after dusk. It was one of the most uneasy moments I had on the trip.

We could feel the plane coming closer and closer to the ground but could see no airport or landing strip. Just as it seemed that we were about to touch earth there was a flash of flood lights on a sod field.

The plane came in quickly, something like a chicken hawk picking up a chicken. As soon as the wheels touched the earth the flood lights went off and there was an inky blackness.

The runway was sod and very rough. The plane went up to the gate in front of the airport building.

We got off of the plane and were met by a Mr. Dremmin, a small man with a black moustache, a black porkpie hat and a long black overcoat. We were literally whisked into town.

There were several items of great interest in Odessa that I will try to describe in subsequent newsletters. Three important ones were the port itself, the collective farm that we visited there and the People's Court that we visited.

Total farm output in 1955 is called the largest ever.

A PLEDGE to and a REQUEST of the FARMERS of the SOUTH PLAINS

About eight years ago Gifford-Hill-Western, Inc., entered the South Plains committed to developing satisfactory irrigation systems which would economically and efficiently serve the Farmers of the area for years to come. Although pioneering, with the aid of you and others, we are proud of the results which speak for themselves.

In an exacting and complex business we have striven to deserve a reputation for efficiency, integrity and reliability. Further, our Company, which stems from Texas companies with over thirty years' performance in the Southwest, was established to grow with and aid in developing the South Plains. It is our purpose never to misrepresent our products to you; but to explain both their capabilities and limitations to the best of our knowledge.

Our past developments, we hope, justify our being classed as the leader in the irrigation pipe industry in the area in originating products and applications producing increased efficiency and more economical farm irrigation.

It is hoped that most of you know of Gifford-Hill-Western, Inc.—its products, its policies, and some of our experienced personnel! However, for fear some may have the impression that our Company's quality performance and guarantee carries a higher price tag than others,

WE PLEDGE TO YOU:

WE WILL CONTINUE, AS WE HAVE IN THE PAST, TO MANUFACTURE PRODUCTS AND INSTALL IRRIGATION SYSTEMS ONLY ON THE BASIS OF FURNISHING YOU AN INSTALLATION WHICH WILL RENDER SATISFACTORY SERVICE FOR YEARS TO COME, AND,

TO THE VERY BEST OF OUR ABILITIES AND RESOURCES, ALL OF OUR SERVICES — BACKED BY THE G-H-W GUARANTEE AND REPUTATION—WILL BE AVAILABLE TO YOU AT PRICES EQUAL TO OR LESS THAN COMPARABLE COMPETITOR ITEMS.

NOW MAY WE REQUEST OF YOU, WHEN PLANNING AN IRRIGATION SYSTEM, THAT YOU CONTACT ONE OF THE OFFICES LISTED BELOW AND GIVE US AN OPPORTUNITY TO FIGURE WITH YOU.

Sincerely,
GIFFORD-HILL-WESTERN, INC.

College Orchestra Concert Sunday Features Soloist, Three Numbers

In connection with the Lions Club Mid-Winter conference, the West Texas State orchestra will present a public concert featuring a guest piano soloist at 3 p. m. Sunday in the Administration Building auditorium.

Juanella Rose, Tulsa sophomore, will play the first movement of Schumann's "Piano Concerto in A Minor." The orchestra, conducted by William O. Latson, will play three additional numbers.

Miss Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rose, is a music major and student of Matilda Gaume. She is a member of the Buffalo Band, A Cappella Choir, Tau Beta Sigma, national band sorority, Music Educators National Convention and Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society.

The orchestra will play the overture to the opera, "Iphigenia in Aulis," by Gluck; the "Overture and Allegro" from "La Sultane" by Milhaud; and will conclude the program with Aaron Copland's setting of the folk song, "John Henry."

The public is invited to the concert, which will be the first of the year for the orchestra.

SINGLE RAIL FOR LONE-STAR RIDERS—Houston, Tex., will soon have a pilot model, 970-foot monorail line in operation. Artist's sketch, above, shows how a proposed car of a completed system might look, should tests on the "sample" system prove encouraging. Coach, 54 feet long, will seat 96 passengers. Engineer will ride in plastic "bubble" which protrudes above streamlined wheel housing above the single rail of the pillar-supported track. Twin engines would give the air-conditioned cars smooth acceleration and rapid transit-plus speed. Line, first of its kind in this country, would free streets of bus traffic, give commuters a swift, traffic-free ride to their destination.

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Talking to some 250 newspaper people, Sen. Price Daniel took the spotlight in Austin when he made public his current thinking about the race for governor.

Senator Daniel said it was the largest press conference he ever had held. It followed his talk on the program of the Texas Press Association's Mid-Winter Meeting. Anticipating the first question, he began the conference by stating that he intended to complete his first term in the Senate... unless the people of Texas "call me home to take a more important job."

He set March 1 as his deadline for disclosing his decision on a possible race for governor.

Should he decide to run for governor, Daniel said he would not resign from the Senate until after his nomination. But he would resign in time to give the people the "freest possible choice" in selecting his successor.

In reference to rumors that a job "trade" was being considered between him and Gov. Allan Shivers, the junior senator said that he never had and never would consider a political trade-out.

In further reference to his political future, Daniel said he will not run for re-election to the Senate in 1958, unless pressing and unfinished business demands that he do so. He drew considerable applause when he stated that "I would rather be governor of Texas than President of the United States."

Daniel's appearance in the Capital City temporarily drew some of the interest away from the currently involved insurance investigation.

It still goes on, however. Some good news made the headlines when it was announced that, according to present estimates, US Trust depositors, policyholders and other creditors may receive from 70 to 85 cents on the dollar.

Meanwhile both the Senate and House investigating committees were at work.

Making a strong start, the House committee planned to continue its four-point investigation: 1. How to help US Trust victims get back the most possible as soon as possible; 2. Inquiry into charges of influence for and against legislation; 3. An attempt to trace over $50,000 in US Trust checks issued to "cash" about the time A. B. Shoemaker, US Trust president, was lobbying on insurance legislation; and, 4. How to prevent recurrence of similar situations.

A parade of Senators has testified before that group. One upshot has been an increasing clamor for passage of lobbying regulations next session.

Insurance Commission Chairman J. Byron Saunders told the House committee that the blame for conditions should be shared three ways. The insurance industry was not sufficiently alert; the Legislature was partly to blame; and previous insurance commissions had been "derelict" at times. Later he qualified the "derelict" to say he meant no particular individual or commission, and certainly not the present commission.

Saunders predicted that under present insurance laws, no company could set up an operation similar to US Trust.

Life Insurance Commissioner Garland Smith, apparently under tension of recent developments, went to the hospital with stomach trouble. His condition was believed not serious.

First trial on criminal charges resulting from the insurance investigations is expected to get under way early next month.

Travis County Dist. Atty. Les Procter said he hopes to bring to trial three Beaumont men under indictments for perjury. All were connected with the now-defunct Texas Mutual Insurance Co. of Beaumont.

Spuds, Meat, Fruit Top Plentiful List

COLLEGE STATION—Potatoes, pork, beef and grapefruit top the plentiful food list for February. Mae Belle Smith, extension specialist in consumer education, says potatoes are being consumed in decreasing amounts because they are thought to be fattening. This isn't true, she says, for a medium sized potato contains about 100 calories.

The thing to watch is the butter and gravy that is commonly eaten with the potato. Potatoes are a good source of vitamin C; contain B vitamins, iron and other minerals besides being a good energy food. They are a good friend and good for you, says the specialist.

Red meat supplies for 1956 are expected to equal those for 1955 and a wide variety of kinds of cuts of pork and beef are available. Consumers are asking for leaner pork and producers are responding by trying to produce more meat-type hogs. Pork is a top source of vitamin B as well as iron and phosphorus.

Beef is still plentiful and Miss Smith suggests that the economy cuts can help keep the food budget low.

Grapefruit, both fresh and processed, are available in large quantities at prices slightly below those of a year ago and are a good buy. Other fresh vegetables include cabbage and celery.

Rice, broilers, fryers, milk and other dairy products, vegetable fats and oils, peanut butter, lard and canned tuna round out the plentiful list for February.

Joy Class Draws 'Prayer Pal' Names

Names were drawn for "prayer pals" at a recent meeting of the Joy Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Ed Kiser.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Dale Brock, Mrs. Wilda Killingsworth, Mrs. Crawford Kiker, Mrs. D. A. Prichard, Mrs. Bob Gough and Mrs. D. A. Brown.

department entomologist, did die of rabies, according to Dr. Henry A. Holle, state health commissioner. Menzies, who died several weeks ago, had been working with others on a bat-rabies study. Definite cause of his death was not immediately known, and post-mortem examinations were made. As there were no signs of bites on his body, Menzies' death has provided scientists with the fact that one can contract rabies without having been bitten.

Short Shorts
Money recovered by the state on veterans land deals now totals about a half-million dollars, said Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd after another payment of $69,838 was made.

Number of patients in state mental hospitals declined 230 during the first quarter of the new fiscal year. Larger staffs and use of new tranquilizing drugs were given credit for the faster discharge rate.

Texas crude oil allowable for February will be 16,592 barrels a day more than in January, with a statewide pattern of 16 producing days.

Livestock producers in 39 Texas counties are eligible to buy feed under the federal drought emergency program. Secy. of Agri. Ezra Benson also extended the time for 34 counties already participating in the program.

Texas' juvenile delinquency rate has jumped from 15 per 1,000 children in 1953 to 18 per 1,000 children in 1955, reports the Texas Youth Development Council.

Former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, 67, and his second wife, who is 38, now are the proud parents of a daughter born at their ranch home near Junction.

John Wood, 72, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission in 1934-35, while Miriam Ferguson was governor, is seriously ill with an intestinal ailment. He was admitted to an Austin hospital on Jan. 21.

An Award of Merit was presented by the Texas Highway Department to the Lions Clubs of Texas for outstanding service "in designing and building of modern highways."

Reports from the Railway Commission are that oil well completions are lagging behind last year, with 695 wells brought in so far as compared with 713 in the same period of 1955. Gas well completions were 75 this year, 49 last year, for the same early part of January.

Medical reports from Waco say that A. B. Shoemaker, president of the defunct U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co., who shot himself in an attempt to commit suicide, is expected to fully recover. He will be "all right, physically and mentally," says the report.

Ten forgery and ten felony theft indictments against B. R. Sheffield of Brady, one-time business associate of former land commissioner Bascom Giles, all growing out of veterans' land transactions, have been scheduled for call in Travis County District Court on Feb. 1, for setting and probable trial during February.

Texas' population has increased 11 per cent between the 1950 census and July 1, 1955, reaching a total of 8,563,000, according to the latest census report.

Women's Auxiliary Meets With Harrell

The Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary met recently in the home of Mrs. Ed Harrell with eight members present.

Dartha Walker gave the mis-

Income Tax Facts

Save Money with the Right Form

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

The government provides two forms for individual income tax returns. If you choose the wrong one, you may automatically cut yourself off from many possible tax savings.

The easiest way to file is to use the simple Form 1040A. It's a card the size of a check, which anyone can fill out if he is able to write his name and address and a few other simple facts. You just send it in with your withholding slips and the government takes care of the rest.

If you owe more tax than was withheld you will get a bill for the difference. If more was withheld than you owe, you will get a refund check.

The tax rules permit you to use the card form if your gross income consisted of only wages, dividends or interest totaling less than $5,000, and if you did not have more than $100 of gross income apart from that listed on your W-2 withholding slips.

Before deciding to use the card Form 1040A, you should consider these facts:

1. Your tax will be figured from a table which allows you a deduction of about 10% of your income instead of itemized deductions for contributions, taxes, interest paid, medical and dental expenses, etc.
2. There is no provision in this form for filing as the "head of a household," as a "surviving spouse" or for claiming special credits for dividends and retirement income.

If you are sure that these two points would not cost you any tax savings, and your income is within the limits for filing a Form 1040A, you might as well use this simple card form.

If you decide to use the regular Form 1040, you still have the choice of itemizing your deductions or using a standard deduction which generally amounts to about 10% of your income.

You are likely to save by itemizing your deductions if you:

1. Own real estate.
2. Had unusual medical expense.
3. Had deductible child-care expense.
4. Suffered losses from fire, storm, accident, or theft.
5. Made fairly large contributions.
6. Had certain expenses in connection with your work, as explained below.

If you are in business for yourself, you can deduct your reasonable and necessary business expenses on separate Schedule C before arriving at your adjusted gross income on page one of the tax form. This still leaves you the choice of itemizing your other deductions or using the 10% standard deduction.

If you are an outside salesman, the same applies except that you should attach a list instead of separate Schedule C.

Other employees are entitled to a deduction for unreimbursed expenses in connection with their work, but expenses other than those listed below can be deducted only if all deductions are itemized instead of using the 10% standard deduction:

1. Transportation expenses in connection with your employer's business, including fares and automobile expenses. (Expenses of commuting are not deductible in any case.)
2. Meals and lodging while traveling away from home for your employer.

Form 1040 has been rearranged this year, so that although it still contains four pages a taxpayer whose income was entirely from wages needs to use only the first one or two pages. Pages 3 and 4 are for other types of income and for computing the special credits for dividends and retirement income.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

Happy P-TA Will Back Talent Show

It is announced after the Happy P-TA meeting Jan. 23, that the P-TA will sponsor a talent show Feb. 24 in the Happy school auditorium.

Supt. Sam Bryan who is serving as legislative chairman reported from Austin that everyone is urged to pay his poll tax. Mrs. Willard Middleton reported on the recently completed first aid course which was sponsored by the Happy unit.

Mrs. Crews Henry of Canyon, state P-TA recreation chairman, directed the program which consisted of games and an intellectual quiz.

The eighth and ninth grades tied for the room prize and each room was given $5. Refreshments of cake squares and coffee were served to 45 parents and teachers.

Horizontal Silos Replace Trenches

COLLEGE STATION—Horizontal silos have proven their practicality as replacement for trench silos in some locations.

These silos are constructed on top of the ground with self supporting walls. They are designed on the principle of the trench silo, and run horizontal. Horizontal silos, which are increasing in numbers, must be economical, conveniently located, properly designed, and constructed for long service.

Many trench silos could not be located for adequate drainage and good feeding arrangements, and so did not meet these qualifications.

The above ground silos have been somewhat of a problem, since self-supporting walls are necessary. Some of the work has been concerned with this problem.

Tilt-up concrete wall panels, six feet high, 10 feet wide and four inches thick were used. These were precast or poured on the floor of the silo and later raised into position.

For support of the walls, concrete pilasters were poured and spaced at 10 foot intervals. Tests with the experimental silo proved that the four inch concrete wall panels, showed no sign of weakening.

Agricultural engineers gave an approximate cost of this type silo. A silo 20 feet wide and six feet deep will cost about $4 per ton of silage storage space of materials.

Courtesy Honors Mrs. Sherrill

Mrs. Tommy Sherrill was honored Jan. 24 with a surprise pink and blue shower in the home of Mrs. Clyde Ivey, 1101 Third Ave.

Upon her arrival, Mrs. Sherrill was presented with a pink and blue corsage, and after the opening of gifts, refreshments of spiced tea, mixed nuts and pink and blue cakes topped with miniature storks were served.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ivey, Mrs. Johnnie Hardin, Mrs. W. C. Black, Mrs. Muriel Taylor, LaJoy Morgan, Cecelia Bosley, Chloe Ann Black, Grace Sheets, and Dorothy Hargrove.

Those present included Mrs. H. H. Snodgrass, Mrs. Robert O'Don-

OPERATION HOME IMPROVEMENT

You'll be seeing this seal a lot in coming months. It is the symbol of a year-long program, set up by the nation's construction industry, to encourage Americans to improve their homes — by making it easier for them to buy materials and employ useful services.

Our bank heartily endorses this program, for it can help protect local property values as it helps our neighbors enjoy added comfort and convenience. Moreover, we want to cooperate — by extending low-cost credit wherever needed. If the projects you plan will require financing, ask about our Home Improvement Loans.

Yarborough-

hower when the president was still a general and was chief of staff of the Army. The gift was in appreciation of work he had done to help obtain an appropriation for a museum.

At the end of his speech, J. Everett Haley asked Yarborough if he had put Eisenhower's picture at the back of a closet.

Yarborough laughed and said he had great admiration for Eisenhower personally, as a general and as a candidate. "He was an expert candidate," Yarborough said. "I just wish he had kept the government instead of letting the Republicans run it." About a dozen people were at the meeting for Yarborough, not counting newspaper reporters. Half of those present were from South Amarillo.

Yarborough was accompanied by H. M. Baggarly, editor of the Tulsa Herald.

He was introduced at the meeting by Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus of West Texas State College. Mentioning that he had met Yarborough a great number of years ago, Dr. Hill said he thought Yarborough was a "very capable, very able, very promising servant of the people of Texas."

Dr. Hill said he was proud to present Yarborough as an outstanding Texan.

MR. AND MRS. LEROY BAUER

Gladys Leseberg and LeeRoy Bauer
Wed in Double Ring Ceremony Friday

In a candlelight ceremony at St. Paul's Lutheran Church vows were solemnized Friday for Gladys Leseberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Leseberg, and LeeRoy Bauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Bauer of Happy. The Rev. Harold Kaestner of Hereford officiated in the double-ring service.

Featured as the setting was a basket of white stock, gladioli and jade palms backed by arched candleabra entwined with fern and flowers. Arrangements of white gladioli and stock flanked the altar.

Pianist Richard Stevens played the processional, "The Wedding March" by Mendelssohn, and accompanied Mrs. Richard Stevens who sang, "Oh, Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Weldon Tucek, cousin of the bride, and Junell Bauer, sister of the bridegroom, were candlelighters. She wore a blue net ballerina length dress with white pill box hat and blue net veil. Lorrette Tucek, cousin of the bride, and Donna Davis, niece of the bridegroom, registered the guests at the church.

As matron of honor was Mrs. Ernest Ramm, sister of the bridegroom. Bridesmaid was Lucy Hollabaugh, and Mrs. Francis Davis, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmatron.

They were all dressed in Copenhagen blue taffeta dresses styled with full length gathered skirts, off the shoulder necklines and short sleeves.

Matching blue mitts and pill box hats of white with blue net trim completed their attire.

Flower girl Lucy Tucek, cousin of the bride, wore a blue net and lace dress and a pill box hat trimmed with a blue veil. The ring bearers, Roxie Knox and Duane Bauer, cousin of the bride and nephew of the bridegroom, were attired identically to the bride and bridegroom.

Best man was Franklin Bauer, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsman were Norman Tucek, cousin of the bride, and Ernest Ramm, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Serving as ushers were cousins of the bride and bridegroom. Glenn Tucek and Kenneth Dietrich.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of French lace and nylon tulle over satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and Queen Anne collar. From a long torso, the tulle formed a center front panel of accordion pleats and the remainder was in tiers over a full gathered formal-length skirt which extended in a chapel train. Long sleeves terminated in points over the hands.

Her finger-tip veil was of nylon net and extended from a seed pearl crown hat. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and stephanotis showered with satin streamers. The traditional something old and new was worn.

Mrs. Leseberg, mother of the bride, wore a brown dress with gray and white accessories and a pink gardenia corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue with white trim and white and black accessories. She had a pink gardenia corsage.

A reception followed the service in the VFW Hall. The bride's table was laid with a linen table cloth, and crystal candleholders with white candles. Mrs. Franklin Bauer, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Lewis Tucek served the tiered cake, and Mrs. Ed Harvey, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Loys Knox, aunt of the bride, served the punch.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Arthur Spiser, cousin of the bridegroom.

For the wedding trip, the bride traveled in rose beige suit with white and beige accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. Bauer graduated from Canyon High School in May and was employed as secretary of the Canyon Junior High School principal.

The bridegroom graduated from West Texas State High School and served in the United States Army for two years one of which was in Japan. He is engaged in farming with his father.

The couple will be at home on a farm northwest of Friona.

Church To Show Graham Movie

"Oiltown, U. S. A.," the second religious film featuring the Rev. Billy Graham, will be shown at the First Baptist Church Feb. 9. The Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the church, announced that the picture will begin at 7 p. m. and the doors will be opened at 6:45 p. m.

There will be no charge for admission, however a free will offering will be taken.

The 94-minute film centers around the life of Lance Manning, a wealthy Texas oilman, one of 60,000 who attended a Sunday afternoon Billy Graham evangelistic meeting in Rice Stadium in Houston.

vide that the school may give one major award, costing not more than $15, to students who participate in school-sponsored sports. In addition, the school may give an additional symbolic award, costing not more than $2, for each additional sport besides the one for which the major award was given.

The rules allow students who participate in non-school-sponsored events to accept a medal, trophy, cup or other symbolic award from the organization which sponsors the event. A translation of the rule allows a winner in a Golden Gloves division to accept a trophy from the Globe-News without penalty.

Any other award accepted by a student jeopardizes his amateur standing in the League.

If a school allows a student to play in school-sponsored athletic events after the student has accepted an award from outside sources, the school may be suspended from League play for one year.

Miller said the ruling against schools applies even if the school officials do not know one of their players is ineligible.

The principal said he is not trying to discourage any student from participating in outside athletic events, but is trying to warn the students and townspeople about the League rules. He said the school does not want to chance losing players from next year's football and basketball teams.

"One student was declared ineligible for winning a dollar in a greased pig contest," Miller said. "He was declared a professional."

Miller asked that townspeople not give students anything for participating in athletic events.

Around the Town...

Receiving national recognition in January, the Wesleyan Service Guild, an organization of employed women of the Methodist Church, is an auxiliary to the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

The guild concerns itself with the recruitment of missionaries, deaconesses, and other workers for home and foreign missions, and to provide a channel through which employed women can achieve spiritual achievement and Christian fellowship, and help develop a world Christian community.

The guild's support goes to providing food for needy families, gifts and visits for shut-ins, boxes of materials to the Salvation Army and to war-torn Korea. In addition, the members study world affairs.

Among the missionary projects it helps to support are Ai Kei Gakuen, a social and evangelistic center in the heart of Tokyo; Christian education work in Singapore, Malaya; a hospital at Nadiad, India; a rural hospital in the village of Vikarabad, Hyderabad, India; public health work for tuberculosis patients at Union Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Madar, India.

Scholarship funds to help young people prepare themselves for work in the church and its affiliated institutions in many different countries in the world; MacDonell Methodist Center, Houma, La.; Mother's Memorial Center in Cincinnati, Ohio; the defense area near the Atomic Energy Plant, Paducah, Ky.; Vashli Girls' School in Thomasville, Ga.

Mrs. E. J. Larson, who is the president of the Canyon Wesleyan Service Guild, says, "The meetings and the lessons that we have are very inspirational and informative. We learn of many different countries and our relationship with those countries."

She says, "The women learn of the United Nations in connection with the studies for promotion of peace. The guild gives employed women a time to meet together and learn these things, an opportunity not available to them during the day."

The guild meets every first and third Tuesday of the month and the coordinator between the WSCS and the guild is Mrs. C. A. Murray.

The year's highlight for guild members in this section is the annual Wesleyan Service Guild conference which will be held in Lubbock March 17 and 18.

Members are Mrs. B. B. Bullard, Mrs. Lang Hunter, Mrs. Gladys Haines, Mrs. H. H. Johnson, Mrs. Joe M. Winstead, Mrs. J. L. Gilmore, Mrs. F. A. Pierce, Mrs. Alfred Hamblen, Mrs. Olga Seales, Faye Oatis, Mrs. R. L. Boling, Mrs. Ruth Hill, Mrs. E. Gidden, Mrs. T. L. Devin, Mrs. Rae M. Walters, Mrs. L. M. Cousins, Mrs. Fred Scott, Irene Hicks, Mrs. Irene Ball, Mrs. Fred Richards and Mrs. Larson.

In the Anderson Appliance office there is a typewriter that is really a jewel. I bet it is the latest... latest model put out in 1920.

Mrs. H. V. Anderson says she and H. V. Anderson purchased the typewriter when they bought the appliance store and that Mr. Furlow, the previous owner, had probably used the machine the 30 years he was in business.

The brand name of the typewriter is Remington, and at first glance shows that it has ten space tabs just above the number keys which are set by hand in the back. It was made to use three tone ribbon and it must be set on red to type both small and capital letters as blue will type only small letters. The Anderson's use one color ribbon.

Circling the brand name of the typewriter is a motto which reads, "To save time is to lengthen life."

Mrs. Anderson says that they paid only $25 for "good old Remington" but that it surely gets the job done. After looking at a letter typed on the machine, I agree.

Now aren't you sorry you sold that old typewriter?

Feb. 6 through the 12th is National Boy Scout Week.

Just about dinner time the other day, a friend and I were talking about food, a natural subject for that time of day. She said it was amazing to her how the tastes and food desires in her family could vary.

For breakfast she said the family could troop in and before you know it there would be orders for scrambled eggs, fried eggs, cereal, bacon and maybe even pancakes. She said it was almost like running a short order house.

All of which reminded me of varying tastes that lapse over into unusual desires at breakfast time. Most people have the usual meat and eggs, or cereal, or waffles or pancakes, but then there are those, and I am one, who eat foods that seem strange to start off the day. A habit of eating such meals would probably be classed as an ideosyncrasy.

A girl friend at McMurry College introduced me to an unusual breakfast. It is prepared by browning seasoned hamburger meat, adding flour to the browned meat and then milk which makes a sauce. When the sauce has thickened, the mixture is poured over the toast and served. Good.

This morning for breakfast I had shrimp, tomato soup, orange juice, biscuits, and hot tea and enjoyed it very much. I get a satisfying pleasure out of observing the shocked expressions of people's faces when I tell what I ate.

Some friends of mine have been known to eat sardines, Cokes, pie and grilled cheese sandwiches for breakfast. One man recommends ice cream on dry cereal for a tasty morning meal.

A farm family near Happy said they used to enjoy steak, baked or hashed brown potatoes, gravy, homemade jelly, biscuits and lots of hot coffee.

Try an unusual breakfast sometime. When you get tired of looking at the same old order of bacon and eggs, you might discover something really tasty that would be good enough to pass on to others.

Speaking of unusual things, there is a welding truck sign about town which reads, "We fix everything but broken hearts and the break of dawn."

Did you ever realize how many times a day people look at their timepieces to see what time it isn't. Let that soak in and think about it. Isn't that so?

Just listen to your neighbors or to yourself. You look at your watch and remark that it isn't noon yet or that it isn't time to go or the hour isn't up. Over and over we say exactly what time it isn't.

Can you think of anything more discouraging than to search

Buffalo Rough Fish To Be Removed In Spring Housecleaning by State

AUSTIN—Renovation of Buffalo Lake, a popular Panhandle fishing spot, will be undertaken this spring, according to Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

The announcement was made following a conference with four officials of the federal government which created the Randall County lake 15 years ago by damming Tierra Blanca Creek.

It has 25 miles of shoreline; covers about 1,000 acres and is 25 feet deep at the deepest part.

The lake will be treated with rotenone in an effort to remove rough fish so that game fish species may be restored in sufficient numbers for the heavy angling traffic.

Dodgen, announcing the joint project, said more than 75,000 persons fished at Buffalo last year and that thousands more enjoyed boating and water sports.

He said the lake has been described as ideal for bass, bream and channel catfish, but that carp, buffalo and other undesirable species have overrun the area.

The executive secretary said Buffalo Lake is surrounded by public land, and is served by three roads and is easily accessible.

The lake was created originally by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and later was taken over by the U. S. Forest Service. Under the joint renovation program, the federal government will furnish the rotenone and the Game and Fish Commission will assign the manpower.

Aquatic Biologist Leo Lewis of Wichita Falls has been tentatively assigned to supervise the work.

Rebekah Lodge Members Honored

Several members of the Canyon City Rebekah Lodge No. 350 received honorable recognition at a meeting Jan. 25.

May Bond, lodge secretary, was presented with a certificate of merit for being perfect in making lodge reports to the Rebekah Lodge Assembly of Texas, an award which was issued by the president of the assembly.

Mrs. C. H. Stratton, lodge deputy, presented certificates to the following members for perfect records in regard to unwritten work: Mrs. Myrtle Sparks, Mrs. Billie Sogree, Mrs. Myrtle McLaughlin, Mrs. Mae Johnson, Mrs. Gladys Pitt and Mrs. Columbia Redfern.

A session of practice work was conducted by the noble grand, and another practice session will be held at the next meeting on Feb. 8 in preparation for Feb. 22 when the president of the Rebekah Lodge Assembly of Texas will be present.

Rotenone is a chemical which, when mixed with water of a lake or stream, temporarily immobilizes fish by paralyzing their breathing apparatus. If returned to fresh water, they survive.

Thus game fish usually are retrieved from the treated zone and released in fresh water while the rough fish either are salvaged for edible fish or permitted to perish and their carcasses used for fertilizer or some such.

During the fall, Buffalo Lake also has served as a key waterfowl refuge in the Panhandle. Migrating ducks and geese are attracted to that area and provide substantial sport for hunters over a wide area.

The gunners get shots at the game birds as they move to and from feeding grounds. At one time last fall, it was estimated Buffalo housed 750,000 ducks and 50,000 geese.

Federal authorities participating in the planning program for Buffalo were Lynn H. Hutchens of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service; Art Schilling, assistant (US) regional forester; F. J. Monahan, supervisor, Cibola National Forest, and Walter J. Caserta, assistant supervisor, Cibola National Forest.

Pluck Mushrooms Right From a Can

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

MUSHROOMS have a way of adding a de luxe touch to most dishes. Because so many are canned, it is easy to use them often.

Recently we went on a mushroom tour and had lunch at the Red Rose Inn, at West Grove, Pa. The chef prepared a wonderful dish for us, which he called "tenderloin of beef topped with canned mushrooms and whipped potatoes en casserole."

The handsome dish was created especially to show off the area's major product, mushrooms. The recipe below has been adapted to serve 6 using only one baking dish. At the inn, the chef prepared it in individual casseroles, each topped with sliced, canned mushrooms and a ring of whipped potatoes, applied with a pastry tube and browned lightly in the oven.

For the luncheon the casserole was served after chicken-and-mushroom soup. A green salad, homemade rolls and a dessert completed the meal.

Beef en Casserole

One and one-half pounds of fillet of beef tenderloin (cut in thin slices), ¼-cup butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup water, three 4-ounce cans sliced mushrooms and liquid, 2 tablespoons sherry or water, ¾-teaspoon salt, ½-teaspoon pepper, 2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes, 1 egg, beaten.

Quickly saute beef slices on both sides in butter in skillet. Set aside.

Saute onions until soft in butter left in skillet; stir in flour until smooth. Quickly stir in water and mushrooms with their liquid. Stir all this until smooth and thickened.

Mmmmm-mushrooms and beef tenderloin are combined to make a casserole dish to delight family and company alike.

Add sherry or water, salt and pepper. In a 1½-quart casserole, place layers of fillet and sauce, ending with mushroom sauce.

Combine potatoes with egg. Place in decorating tube or pastry bag with star or rosette tube. Decorate top as desired. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 30 minutes or until potatoes are tinged with brown.

$750 Collected During Telethon

The March of Dimes telethon brought in a total of $750 for Randall County Saturday night and Sunday, according to Joe Gibson, county campaign chairman.

The total contributions to the month-long drive will not be known for a few days, when all collection boxes and posters are brought in and the contents counted, he said.

"We wish to thank all who called in contributions," Gibson said.

He asked that those who have not mailed their contributions in yet send the money to D. E. Standley at the First National Bank or to the March of Dimes, Box 119.

By C. WILSON HARDER

Undoubtedly many people in the nation are not concerned with the wine industry. But whether one is opposed to alcoholic beverages, or not, plight of California wine industry brings into sharp focus way foreign trade agreements serve to demoralize American industry and agriculture.

Out in California, thousands of farmers have almost a half million acres planted in vineyards. Chief sales outlet for their crops is the wineries of the state.

In past few years California grape growers have been receiving low prices due to low price structure on California wines. These low prices are largely due to competition of foreign wines, mostly French.

France as a nation swims in surplus wine. In fact, one of the recent premiers, Mendes-France, was ousted because he bucked French alcohol monopoly in attempting to encourage production of more milk, less wine.

While France does produce and ship into this country some wines considered of highest quality, France also produces huge quantities of very inferior wines. These surpluses of poor quality French wine now flooding into U. S. are underselling California and other American wines.

These inferior French wines are often packed in attractive containers, given very high sounding names, yet in many cases they are wines that no self-respecting Frenchman would consider drinking.

There is also this further disadvantage. Under U. S. laws, California wines cannot be falsely represented to the slightest degree. No claim can be made not borne out by the facts.

But French laws lay no such restraining hand on French wineries, especially when it is wine being exported to U. S.

It is not known yet just what imports of French wine will total for year just ended. Probably figures will not show gallanage as prodigious.

Yet there has been enough French wine imported cheaply enough to drive down the prices on California wine to the distress of the grape grower.

In addition, American public is not being protected. While it is well known some French wines are world famous for quality, these cheap wines are tied to the coat tails of their reputation.

Thus, to occasional purchaser of wine, fact that some French wines are priced lower than domestic wines appears as a great bargain and also mentally conditions him against paying a reasonable price for domestic products.

As stated at the outset, there are people who would not care if entire domestic wine industry were shut down.

Yet experience of the California wine industry focuses in sharp detail problems encountered by many other American enterprises when government plays fast and loose with the U. S. protective tariff laws. The American textile, pottery, chinaware, apparel, fishing, and many other industries are encountering the same situations as the wine business.

Milking Outdoors Rough Right Now But New Fireproof Barn Underway

Sub zero weather in the Texas Panhandle has made it a little rough on the cowhands at Boys' Ranch at milking time. The temperature was recorded at five below zero one morning last week at the ranch, but it didn't make any difference to these youngsters, who knew the work had to go in spite of the freezing weather.

According to the 32 boys at the ranch who are on the barn crew and begin their chores at 7 in the morning, they certainly knew that the first real cold spell of winter had arrived. Hands were so cold they could hardly milk and they had to chop holes in the ice which covered the lake for the cows to get to water.

The loss of the barn has really been felt by these boys particularly this week, but according to the staff member in charge of the barn, the boys have done a splendid job and even the below zero weather slowed them up very little. It makes them look forward even more to the time when they hope to have their new barn. Construction has started on it and the boys are using cinder blocks which will make it more fireproof.

One of the features of the new barn will be a heating system which will make it possible for the cows to have warm water to drink, which, according to many dairies, results in better milk production.

"The loss of the barn was the first fire we've had at the ranch in 17 years," said Cal Farley, "and has been quite a tragedy to the boys, but they've taken it right in stride as they are a fine bunch of kids."

People of the Panhandle area have given the boys saddles, bridles, blankets, chaps and spurs and other equipment which was lost.

The boys didn't even have one bridle or saddle left after the fire and all their rodeo equipment was destroyed. They are gradually getting it replaced by the generosity of folks in the area.

with her past Worthy Advisor's pin, and the members presented Ann with love notes in a Valentine drill. Mrs. Lorenzo Wirt, past mother advisor, was presented in the East and her advisors, Nancy Adcock, Ann Moore and Virginia Leake gave her a gift from the assembly.

Following the installation service, the Worthy Advisor presented her parents in the East and gave them a gift. "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," a dedication to Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson, was sung by Joy Gray.

Nancy Kay also introduced her sisters, Mrs. Hales and Mrs. Williams. Refreshments were served by the line up officers, and a short program of songs and poem was given followed by the benediction by K. L. Pond.

The first meeting of the new term is scheduled for Feb. 13 at 7:30 in the Masonic Hall.

Coffee Takes Leave For Doctorate Study

Herschel Coffee, head of the government-economics-sociology department at West Texas State College, has been granted a leave of absence to resume work toward his doctorate at the University of Texas.

Coffee will be on leave for the spring semester and expects to enroll at the University this week, according to President James P. Cornette.

A long-time member of the WT faculty, Coffee earned his B.A. degree at WT and his M.A. at the University of Southern California.

Rainbow Worthy Advisor Installed

Nancy Kay Tomlinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tomlinson, was installed Monday night as Worthy Advisor of the Canyon Assembly No. 214 Order of Rainbow for Girls in formal ceremonies at the Masonic Hall.

Others assuming new offices were Diane Prichard, worthy associate advisor; Wanda Rogers, charity; Emma Liston Coleman, hope; Pat Hardaway, faith; Virginia Leake, recorder; Janet Taylor, treasurer; Nedra Fanning, chaplain; Faye Lowrey, drill leader.

Margaret Juniper was installed as love, Karen Parker, religion; Cathy Morris, nature; Barbara Meyers, immortality; Mary Whealy, fidelity; Shirley Stephens, patriotism; Johnnie Weeks, service; Connie Wilkins, confidential observer; and Gayle Rogers, outer observer.

Ann Moore presided as installing officer. Chaplain was Nancy Adcock, marshal was Bettie Wimberly, recorder was Rhea June Burgess and LaNelle Gum was musician.

The Worthy Advisor's colors of red and white were featured in the assembly room with arrangements of red and white roses which flanked the Worthy Advisor's station. The theme for the evening was "Love."

CANYON DRUG

SHE'D WALK A MILE FOR HIM—So the ecstatic expression on the lady camel at right would indicate. But the blissful bac-trian at left had better head for the oasis. She'll make him hump for a date unless he promises love that will endure until the sands of the desert grow cold. This early spring nonsense is going on at the zoo in Paris, France.

NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN—Rare choir manuscript, dating back to the 16th century, is shown to Rev. William J. Monihan, left, University of San Francisco librarian, by Stanley S. Slotkin of Los Angeles. Hand-lettered on calfskin, it antedates TV prompting cards by four centuries, was designed for scanning by an entire choir from a distance of some 30 feet. Slotkin discovered three of the rare notations in a sealed room of a chair factory at Valencia, Spain. He presented them to the University.

"HOT" MEAL HITS THE SPOT—Volunteers apparently find Army chow good to the last droplet and succulent enough to lick the platter (pan) clean at Fitzsimons Army Hospital, Denver, Colo. Actually, it's their job. Eldon Miller, left, of Albany, Ore., and Kenneth Goertzen, Hampton, Neb., want to get all the nutritive value possible from measured portions of a hot meal. The "hot" in this case refers to foods treated with atomic radiation as a preservative measure. Army researchers want to determine if food values are affected by the treatment.

Refugees

Since Canyon has been interested in the coming of refugees into the town, interest is renewed in the displaced persons who came five years ago.

Among the nine who came, Mr. and Mrs. Lajos Hegedus, who lived here a short time, are now naturalized citizens. They are living in Denver, Colo., and have just cleared sponsorship for Mrs. Hegedus' cousin and last remaining relative.

They sent the affidavit in September and he—a sheet metalworker about 35 years old—will start to America this week. Mrs. Hegedus writes, "We sure are happy to help somebody to come to this blessed country."

The film, "The Waiting Ones," ordered by the Refugee Committee came last week and was reviewed Wednesday morning by the committee in the film room of the library building at the college.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Galins were invited to view it. Having lived through the experience, they are the best fitted of anyone in Canyon to pass upon the authenticity of the presentation. They said it was not terrible enough.

The United Church Women in Hereford have requested a showing on Wednesday, Feb. 1. In Canyon, Mrs. W. E. Miller, conductor of the World Day of Prayer program on Feb. 17, will make this picture a part of her program.

It is expected that many groups in and around Canyon will show the film.—Mary Moss Richardson.

News In Canyon 25 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of The Canyon News of Jan. 29, 1931.)

Two of the meanest young men in this part of the country pulled a dirty trick on the Rev. C. E. Jameson, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The men knocked on the preacher's door one Sunday afternoon and asked for something to eat. While the food was being prepared, they stole $4.50 from a coin purse in the house. Later the money was missed, so the Rev. Jameson reported the loss to Sheriff John Fry. The sheriff found the thieves and they were fined $1 and costs by the justice of the peace. They had to lay their fines out in the Potter County jail.

No new developments were reported in the $14,000 robbery of the First National Bank on Jan. 10.

Mrs. Noel Becket was hostess to the Loyal Dozen club.

Mrs. Andy Walsh was elected president of the Junior Woman's Club. Other officers elected were Mrs. Carl Scott, vice president; Mrs. Harry Wood, secretary; Mrs. Lige Frieze, treasurer; Mrs. M. L. Sadoris, critic and parliamentarian; and Mrs. Levi Cole, reporter.

The Womens Missionary Society of the Baptist Church met with Mrs. G. W. Johnson and discussed "The Challenge of Unfinished Tasks."

One day last week we ran into a buzz saw:

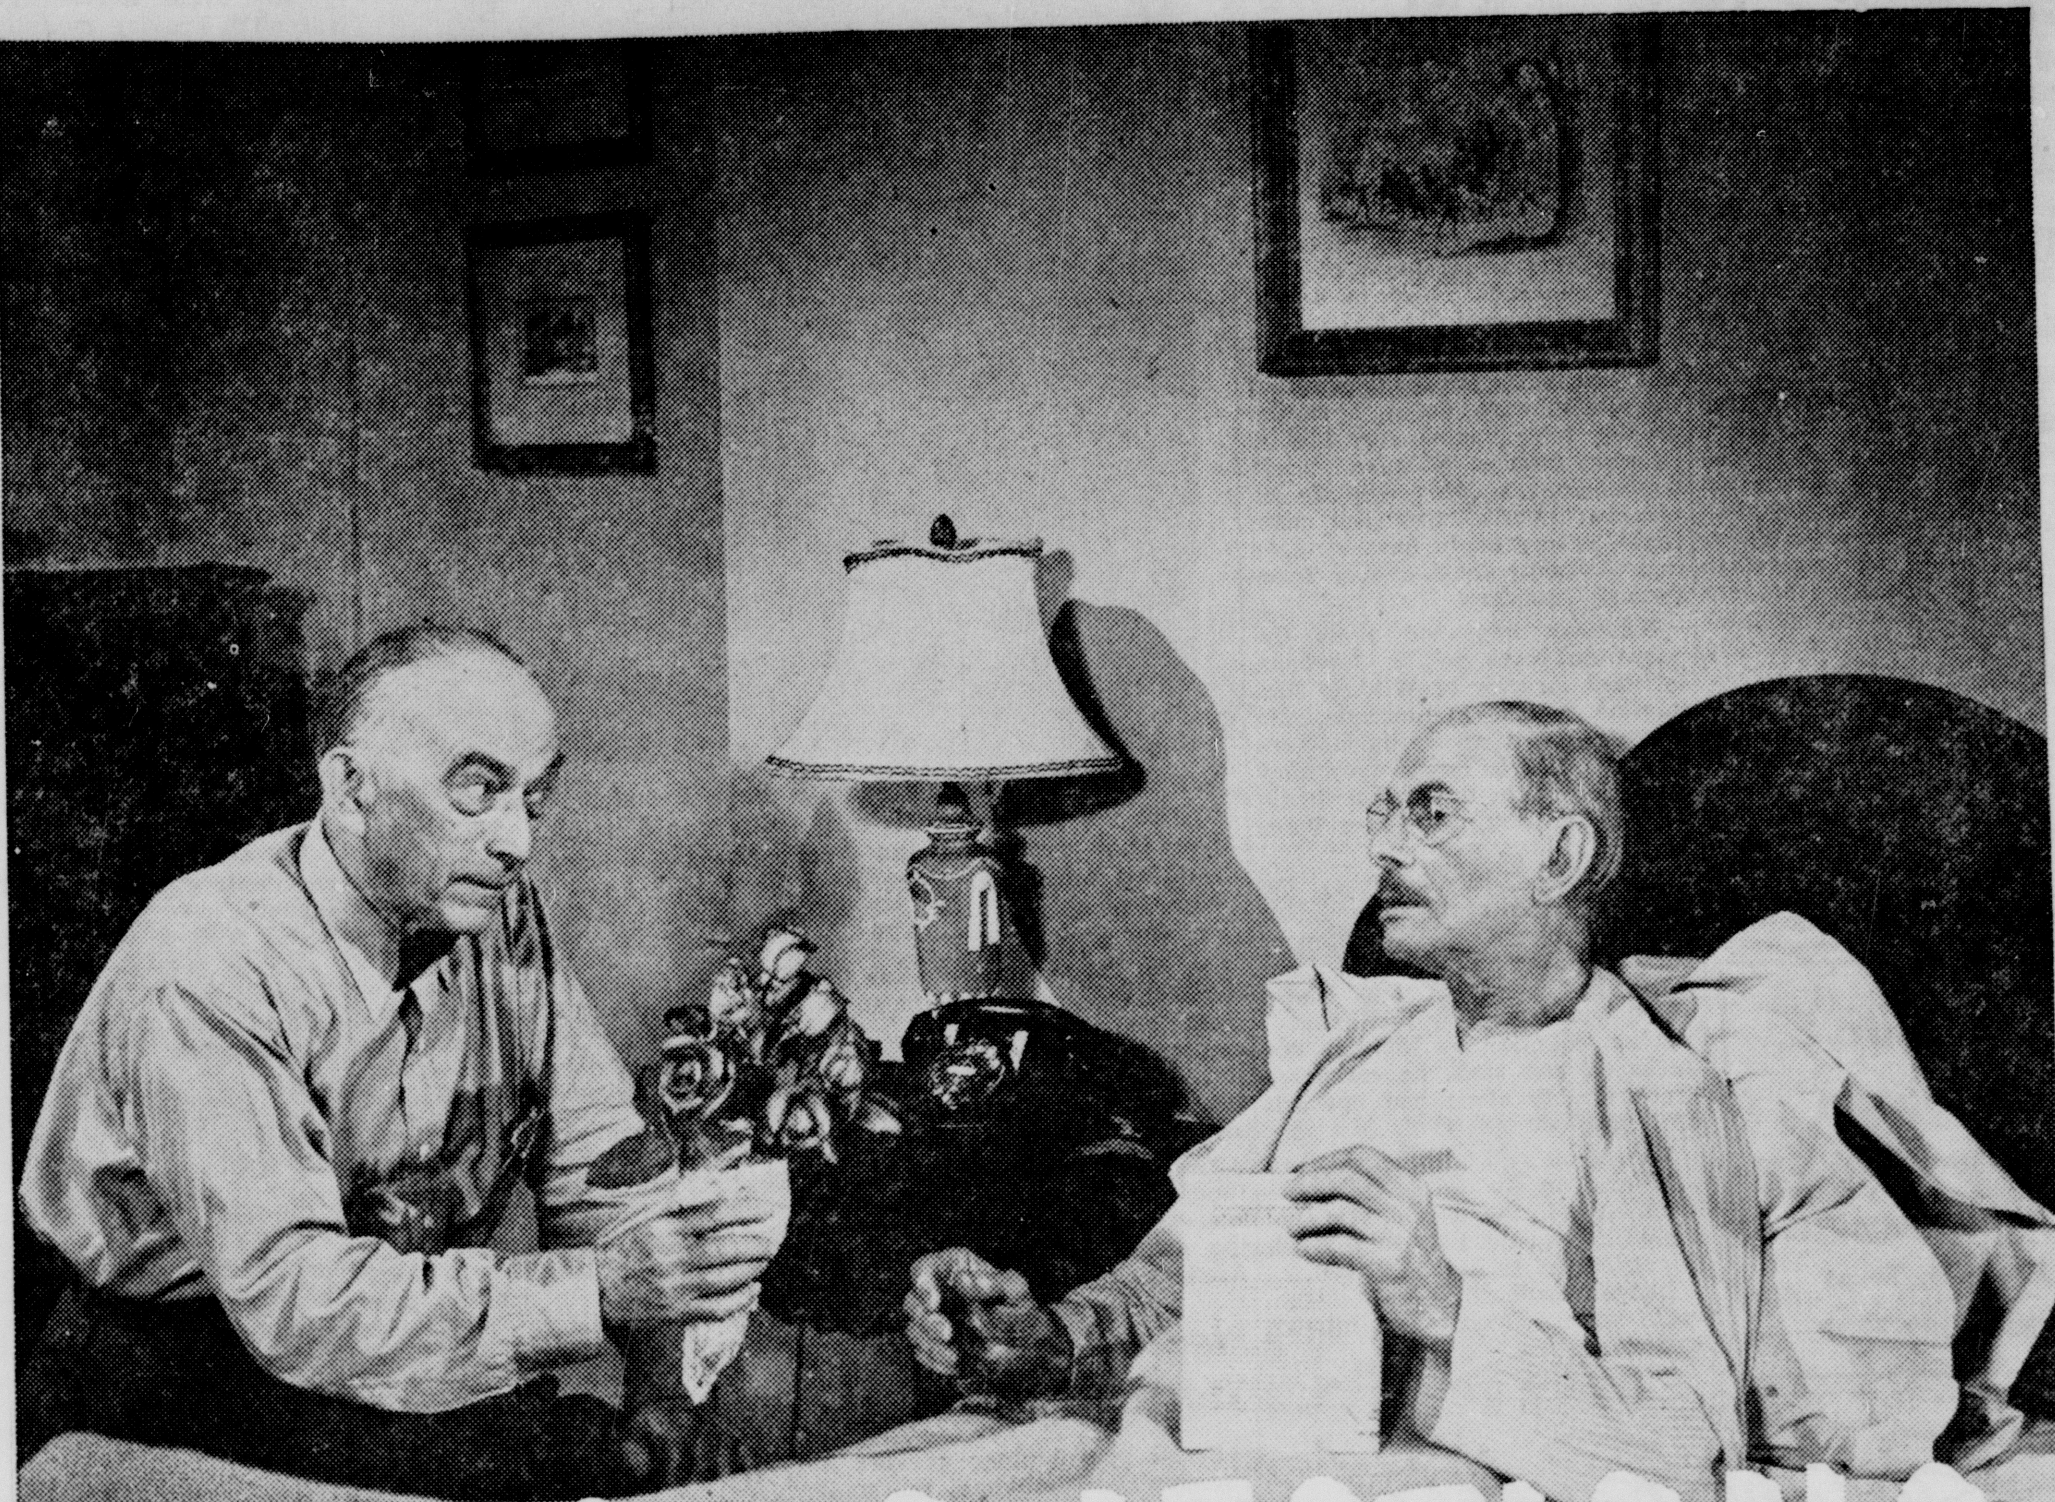

Someone we see almost daily sharply criticized a piece of work we had done. There was nothing unusual about the job; or, really, about the way we did it. But our behavior was quite usual. When his voice rose, and accusations flew, our answers became shrill and we made counter-charges that would never have come out had he not entered the conversation armed for a showdown. Later, we tried to think what had "brought it on." Could we have seen the argument coming and avoided it? Were the criticisms justified?

Most of us are quick to claim error as well as credit. We move along, doing an average-to-good job in our daily chores, with occasional bursts of real quality. But in our hearts most of the time, we're saying, "I could have done better." Therefore, a direct criticism, whether or not it is just, is nourished by our own guilty conscience.

A few days later, a speaker observed that "criticism of others sometimes stems from self-hate." All of us, he continued, have periods of hating ourselves. When that happens, we begin to cast around for a scapegoat — someone to lay the blame on. Such an attack, he said, "reflects a lack of self-esteem on the part of the fellow who makes it."

"It isn't important," he concluded, "that such things happen. What is important is what we let them do to us."

When something especially upsetting happens, it's hard to remember that in a few months the incident may be completely forgotten. Time has a way of healing many hurts, and what seems a tragedy today gets back into perspective as life returns to its normal pattern.

6 TEST QUESTIONS

THE Great Teacher painted a picture of the final Judgment. To the amazement of His hearers, He said the test questions would be six:

Did you feed the hungry? Did you give drink to the thirsty?
Did you welcome the stranger? Did you clothe the naked?
Did you visit the sick? Did you help men in prison?

Had there been a seventh question, surely, it would have been —
"Do you attend church regularly?" See the two faces . . .
simple, but a great transaction is taking place. If you have been sick a week, or two, or three — then you understand.
Living eyes are always hungry and to serve them is rich living. Why wait to give expensive wreaths and sprays until those eyes have closed in death? Attend church this week.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Ducks Don't Seem To Live Here Anymore, Coast Gamemen Discover

AUSTIN—As demure as the fall crop of debutantes, sojourning wild ducks are creating more than the ordinary amount of curiosity during the current wintering season in Texas.

And the mystery of their whereabouts has not yet been solved, reports Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Here's the way he summed up the situation: "The unusually heavy concentration of ducks found along the Gulf Coast in October could not be located in November, December and January counts. Waterfowl which should have arrived in November and December did not show up in any concentrations along the coast which is a favorite rendezvous for Central Flyway birds."

Since accurate winter time population surveys are indispensable to spring migration estimates, technicians have been using airplanes to try to locate the game birds in remote places. On the ground deep south Texas game wardens have been beating the back country trails in search of possible unlocated concentrations.

Meanwhile, Dodgen said some waterfowl authorities have speculated that some new flight patterns may have been created during the later stages of last fall's migration which have not yet been charted.

Reports from both central states and from north Texas indicate that the ducks were detained in unusually large numbers by the increasing number of inland water impoundments. Also, wildlife biologists theorize that the main flight pattern might have changed to route many ducks east of Texas through Louisiana.

Whatever happened along the migration route, W. S. Jennings, assistant director of Wildlife Restoration for the Commission, said a recent aerial survey in northern Mexico failed to locate more than a fraction of the ducks that should be there or along the lower Texas coast.

In Webb County, roughly 100 miles inland from the lower coast, Game Warden C. E. Whitenton of Laredo said he had observed many ducks in countless stock tanks which were filled by fall rains.

After counting as high as 200 ducks on one tank, he estimated Webb County alone had upwards of 150,000 ducks.

Whitenton said he based his calculations on an estimated 3,000 stock tanks in the county. He said some figures placed the total Webb County tanks as high as 7,500.

Dodgen emphasized lack of general concern over "the missing waterfowl link."

"Despite modern facilities, we have not yet penetrated many major wildlife secrets, as to movement and habitat. The present conjecture certainly magnifies an intriguing aspect and perhaps helps the duck hunter survive the dull off-season period.

"As for the ducks themselves, they should be entitled to some well-earned privacy after running the gauntlet of gunfire from the Arctic to the Tropics."

Heart Fund Drive Started Today

Paced by volunteer workers in communities throughout the state, the Texas Heart Association started its month-long Heart Fund campaign today for funds with which to combat the nation's number one killer disease.

State Heart Fund chairman for the February campaign is Sen. Lyndon Johnson, himself stricken by a heart attack last July. Now sufficiently recuperated from the effects of the attack to resume his official duties in Washington, Sen. Johnson has termed the money contributed to the Texas Heart Fund "an investment in human lives."

Goal of the 1956 Heart Fund is $676,000 — money to be used in research, education and community heart programs, the Heart Fund chairman pointed out.

In urging the support of all Texans for the 1956 Heart Fund, Sen. Johnson expressed doubt "that I would be here now except for the application of medical knowledge gained from such research prior to the heart attack I suffered last July."

"This is a cause in which all of us can work together for the good of humanity," Sen. Johnson declared. "I know Texans will not fail to meet this challenge."

Dr. Henry A. Holle, Texas Commissioner of Health, recently noted

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Supervisors attending the convention of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors held in Lubbock last week were J. W. Spencer and C. V. Conatser. This meeting was the 15th annual state meeting. Among the topics discussed were Upstream Flood prevention.

Ninety-four watersheds have applied to the State Soil Conservation Board for assistance, 44 applications have been approved, 23 rejected and 27 are still pending.

The latest report from USDA states that there is some 6,000,000 acres subject to blowing now, all of which is very dry and has little or no cover. The best time to prevent blowing is before it starts.

Let's start early on chiseling and listing on the contour. The wind just can't blow down crooked rows like it can down straight ones and there is some A.C.P. payments for chiseling and listing.

C. V. Conatser, vice chairman of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District, has completed 5544 ft. of standard terraces on his farm 5 1/2 miles southeast of Canyon. Conatser is building these terraces himself. These three terraces will give him a complete terrace system on his farm.

The soil on this farm is medium textured and when the soil is in good condition it has a moderately permeable intake of water. All farming operations done by Conatser are on the contour.

The newly constructed terraces and the old terraces will be seeded to grass as soon as practicable. Conatser intends to build some terraces on the rented land he is farming and these terraces will also be seeded to adapted grasses.

Adapted grasses for dryland in this area include Buffalo, Blue Grama, western wheatgrass, sand lovegrass, and weeping lovegrass, etc.
